Willard M. Avery Gets High Office

Indiana was decidedly in the limelight at the triennial Grand Encampment of Knights Templar in the United States held in Detroit, Mich., late in August.

With the election of R.E. Willard M. Avery of Knightstown, Past Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery of Indiana, as Grand Captain General of the Grand Encampment, Indiana for the second time has a line officer in the national body of Chivalric Masonry.

From 1922 to 1925 Leonidas P. Newby, also of Knightstown, served the Grand Encampment as Grand Master.

A Past Master of Golden Rule Lodge No. 16, Brother Avery is a native of Palmyra, in Harrison County. He is an attorney and former teacher. For the last 25 years he has been active in all bodies of the York Rite, and has served as Worthy Grand Patron of the Grand Chapter O.E.S.

This is a photo of the Klinker home in Southern Indiana about 10 miles South of Salem, Indiana. The date was probably late summer 1898 as we find Grandma Hattie holding Sadie who was born in July of 1898 and she appears to be about 3 months old or so, making the time in the fall of 1898. The leaves are still on the trees in the background except for the one behind the family and that is either dead or has already lost its summer leaves.

JACOBI SERVICE STATION

The Palmyra Centennial Celebration, September 16, 1939, causes one to look back into the history of some of the outstanding merchants of this Indiana town. One of these merchant concerns is the Jacobi Service Station, dealer in farm machinery, gasoline, tires, Willard Batteries and service.

The origin of this firm dates to 1915 when William Jacobi, at that time operating extensive farm facilities on Bradford Road, southeast of Palmyra, with the advancement of mechanized implements undertook to sell farm machinery as hay presses and 1-cylinder International Trucks. Year by year his farm machinery enterprises increased and eventually new lines were added, including improved tractors. During the early years Mr. Jacobi sold the 1-cylinder Mogul tractor and later the 2-cylinder Titan tractor. A few years later a more modern tractor was introduced being the 8116 4 cylinder International.

By June 1928, the venture had increased to where it was necessary to resort to improved quarters, whereupon he disposed of his farm holdings and formed the Jacobi Service Station with his son, Henry Jacobi, and erected a modern plant at the present location in Palmyra, where prompt service could be rendered. At this time, the Farmall line of tractors and equipment were well introduced. Year by year more of the Farmalls were sold with improvements added from time to time and other models of Farmalls such as F-12, F-14, F-20 and F-30 were added. In 1930 Jacobis sold the first tractor mounted on rubber in Harrison County. During the last few weeks of this year Jacobi Service Station has introduced a new line of Farmalls known as Farmall A, Farmall B, Farmall H and Farmall M which makes a new advancement of the McCormick-Deering Farmalls.

In order to keep these machines in tip-top shape, a large repair department was added to the Jacobi line, assuring the farmer that he will be adequately protected so far as service is concerned.

The motto used is "Quality and Prompt Service." The quality line at this time includes McCormick-Deering Farm Machinery, International Motor Trucks, Goodrich Tires and Tubes, Texaco Oils and Gasoline, together with modern greasing and lubricating facilities, and registered rest rooms. Efficient mechanics are employed at Jacobi's Service Station to render complete their motto to the farmer and traveling public.

MIDWAY SWEET SHOP

Not only the people of Southern Indiana but the traveling public from far and near who stop in Palmyra know of the Midway Sweet Shop and a mighty liberal patronage is given this good old fashioned home like confectionery. Shelton P. "Barney" True, the proprietor is a life long resident of the community and has been in business in Palmyra longer than any business man in town. He has served the public at his present location on Main street, Midway of town, as the name implies, for more than forty years.

He and Mrs. True, who was also born here, and who assists in the confectionery, are noted for their cleanliness, excellent food, quaint old time service and hospitality. Among the many good things you can get to eat at "Barnies," is his very own home receipt soups which must not be overlooked. Many old customers drive for miles before eating to stop at Midway Sweet Shop for a bowl of "Barney's" good soup.

No truer friends to everybody or better citizens ever lived in Palmyra. Stop, get acquainted, patronize them, for your candies, they carry a large stock of the most delicious and excellent varities, the coldest of soft drinks, ice cream and other frozen sundries, cigars, cigarettes, tobacco, Afga Kodak Films and various other articles. You will feel at home at Midway Sweet Shop.

DOC'S PLACE

A familiar name with hundreds of pleased patrons is "Doc's Place" located on the Community Hall site in the east end of Palmyra and operated by Mr. and Mrs. John Turbaugh.

Established 12 years ago, Doc's Place is famous in this vicinity for its quaint, old fashioned, home-cooked plate lunches and ples and for tasty sandwiches of numerous varieties. Frosted glasses are served here along with your favorite brands of beer. The spacious dining room is cool and inviting with the best of service even during the rush hours.

The free parking lot at Doc's Place affords customers a convenience to be found at but few restaurants. The lot is large and grassy, a safe place to leave your car.

The management realizes that the first demand upon them, from their many and regular customers, is that they furnish savory, well prepared food, something better than they can get just any place. If you have ever stepped into this popular restaurant for lunch or for a sandwich, you know from experience that such is the case. You cannot help but enjoy yourself in the friendly atmosphere surrounding the welcome accorded you as a patron of Doc's Place.

Whenever you want to treat yourself to the best—cleanly and carefully prepared foods, refreshing and stimulating drinks, make it a point to stop here. You may entertain your friends or dine alone. A well-trained competent staff is equipped to fill your order, promptly and in the manner desired.

BALANCED DIET OF PLANT FOOD NEEDED BY GROWING CROPS

CHICAGO.—Growing crops need a balanced diet of plant food from the soil, the same as human beings or livestock need a balanced ration in their foods, a bulletin issued by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee points out.

"If certain plant food elements are missing from the soil, growing crops will develop weaknesses and a susceptibility to diseases," the bulletin declares.

"For the best crop yields and the rehabilitation of the soil, a careful balance of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash is necessary. Some soils require more of one element than another. Crops likewise vary in their fertilizer needs."

What analysis of commercial fertilizer is best for a farmer to use and how much he should apply will depend on a number of factors. The best way of finding out is to consult the soils and agronomy department of the state college and agricultural stations. They have information readily available and are eager to cooperate.

ENDRES FILLING STATION

In the few months of its existence, the Endres Filling Station has grown to be one of Palmyra's busiest concerns. Although not carrying a complete garage line as yet, Paul Endres, operator and owner of the business, expects to stock his garage with the necessary line of tires, batteries and automobile accessories.

An ambitious and efficient young man, Mr. Endres took over the business on February 8 of this year. Among the many courtesies extended to his customers is a 24 hour gasoline service. That his general repair work is meeting with the approval of many people in this community is evidenced by the increasing number of car owners that are coming to him with their automobile troubles.

At the Endres Garage customers may obtain the reputedly coldest drinks in town, cigars, cigarettes and other sundry articles. The management deals in Texaco products, one of the best line of gas and oils in the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Endres have resided in Palmyra for the last four years and are very popular and held in high esteem by both customers and friends.

In a poetic moment, Mr. Endres wrote the following poem concerning his garage—

"Don't cuss when you run out of gas—
Borrow someone's ass and run down to Endres' Filling Station
And get your gas."

THE MECCA CAFE

One of Palmyra's newest business enterprises, the Mecca Cafe was opened to the public under new management last March. Owned and operated by Omer Jones, the cafe has acquired countless new customers since the short time the new operator has been in charge.

Efficiently arranged to serve a number of people for lunches, the Mecca Cafe will be further enlarged this week to accommodate the crowds attending the Centennial Celebration here on September 16. Mr. Jones is adding another dining room to his already spacious cafe.

Assuring its customers of the coldest beer, the Mecca Cafe serves frosted glasses with every serving. Visitors and residents can obtain plate lunches, short orders, soft drinks, candy, cigars, cigarettes and all the other sundries that complete the modern restaurant.

The clean, neat rooms of the Mecca Cafe will present an appetizing menu to customers at all times. The management will engage extra waiters during the celebration activities. Mr. Jones, in his short period in the restaurant business here, has already gained the condidence and respect of his southern Indiana customers and his fellow citizens of Palmyra. The friendly greeting that welcomes you when you step into this modern cafe is indicative of this organization's appreciation of patronage. These obliging and pleasing qualities have contributed materially to the well established popularity of this concern and has resulted in a liberal patronage by people from all over the county.

MARTIN HOTEL

A home-like air of hospitality and comfort first greets the tired and road-weary tourist upon entering the Martin Hotel in Palmyra. Large, airy and faultlessly clean rooms with most of the modern furnishings and conveniences will undoubtedly assure the traveler of complete peace and rest during his stay.

The Martin Hotel has been operated for the last 16 years by Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Martin and their daughter, Edna, all highly respected citizens of high standing in this community. Mr. Martin formerly operated a thriving farm near here.

Claimed by many Palmyra citizens to be 120 years old, legend has it that the building housed General John Morgan during his famous march through this county. Old residents of this vicinity will recall the Hotel building as the residence of the late "Uncle" John Martin, one of the most prominent citizens of Palmyra in the eighties and nineties.

Visitors to the coming Centennial Celebration, Saturday, 16th, will be heartily greeted by the Martin Hotel management. The Martins are thoroughly acquainted with the hotel business and will help to make a visit to Palmyra pleasant and economical. As indicated by their attitude on all undertakings affecting the welfare and advancement of Palmyra and the community, the Martins have proven themselves ardent boosters and worthy citizens.

ONLY ONE-SIXTH OF FARM ACREAGE IS FERTILIZED

CHICAGO.—Only one out of every six acres planted to farm crops in the United States annually is fertilized in any one year, yet the increased production from the fertilized land amounts to about 15 per cent of the nation's total crop output, according to a survey made by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"Less than 60,000,000 acres of America's 360,000,000 annual crop acreage are treated with fertilizer every year," the survey sets forth. "Consumption for the entire country is about five pounds per acre.

"If America should stop using fertilizer, it would be necessary to farm at least 30,000,000 additional acres at a cost of about $550,000,000 annually. Fortunately, the necessity of an ever-increasing program of soil conservation and improvement on American farms through the use of commercial fertilizers is being more and more recognized.

"Through the efforts of agricultural colleges, state experimental stations and county agents, farmers are becoming increasingly aware that an investment in nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash will pay valuable dividends in replenished fertility."

PROFITABLE CROP ROTATION LIES IN CAREFUL PLANNING

CHICAGO.—How to make crop rotation pay farmers more dividends in increased yields per acre and lowered production costs was explained by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"The key to successful rotation is careful planning," a report says. "If crop rotation had more definite beginnings and endings, farmers generally would do more planning at the start of a three, four or six year cycle, and they would be more likely to take stock of the results.

"In most rotation programs starting this spring corn will be the basic crop, largely because of the amazing production records of 'Hybrid' seed.

"In planning the rotation, the matter of fertilizer will be extremely important. Because of its high yield per acre, corn makes heavy demands on the plant food resources of the soil, particularly nitrogen.

"The only practical alternative to replenish the extra amounts of plant food removed from the soil is to use commercial fertilizer."

Survey Shows Corn Belt Farmers Favor Fertilizer

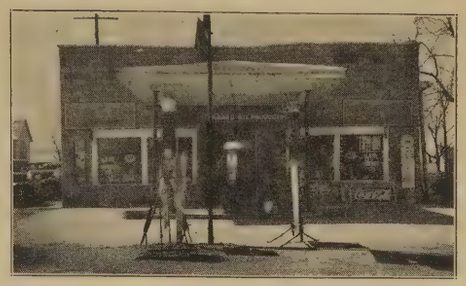
CHICAGO.—How corn growers themselves feel about the subject of fertilizer was revealed in a survey of representative farmers in thirteen corn belt states.

A total of 17,195 farmers were interviewed about their experience in fertilizing corn. Of this number, 14,865 reported they had used fertilizer. Of these, 13,229 reported earlier maturity of their corn as a result.

Better market quality was reported by 12,343 farmers, which meant better feeding quality as well.

Out of the 14,865 farmers, 14,131 said that fertilizer gave corn a quicker start. Increases in the value of their crop as a result of using fertilizer ranging from $4.01 to $15.94 per acre, were reported by these 14,865 farmers.

KAHL MOTOR COMPANY



One of the County's most complete and best equipped service stations is that of the Kahl Motor Company in Palmyra. Operated by Ben J. Haub, this station enjoys an enviable reputation as being a place to which you can take your car for service and leave with the utmost confidence that every phase of the work performed has been expertly and conscientiously handled.

Dealing in Standard Gas and Oils, the Kahl Motor Company also carries a complete line of Goodyear tires, Merrimac batteries, Zenith radios and many automobile accessories. Motorists may also obtain cold soft drinks, cigars and cigarettes here. This garage also boasts of a day-and-night wrecking service, general repairing and overhauling and expert welding.

Mr. Haub, ably assisted by his son, Austin, has been in business at the present location for approximately ten years. Two trained mechanics aid in the repair work. Under Mr. Haub's policies of honesty and fair dealing with the public, he has gained the good will of hundreds of patrons and friends who have learned to depend upon his organization to supply them with their needs of recognized merchandise and quality petroleum products.

The management is thoroughly familiar with the merchandise and products this station carries and with the details of the work. You will find them always willing to give helpful suggestions on any matter in these lines. Visitors at the Centennial Celebration can well afford to do business with the Kahl Motor Company.

FRANK TROWBRIDGE
General Store And Meat Market

Frank Trowbridge, the alert and wide awake business man of Palmyra operates a modern and up-to-the-minute, general store and meat market on the site of the old Martin Huff general store of thirty-five years ago, the south east corner of Main and Green streets. His store room is a tile block structure with glass front. And with his friendly howdy-do-you-do and bright smile as soon as you enter the door, his fresh clean orderly stock of goods radiates sunshine and makes you feel obligated to patronize a citizen so fine and pleasant.

His shelves and bins are bristling with bargains, groceries, meats, fruits, candies, soft drinks, ice cream, dry goods, work clothes and shoes for men, school clothing and supplies, paint, hardware and roofing.

His store has only been established since January 1, 1936 but his quality goods, reasonable prices, prompt and courteous service has won for the Store of Trowbridge hundred of satisfied customers.

Get the habit of trading with Trowbridge. They treat you right.

State Park Visitors Enjoy Bridle Paths

Horseback riding is one of the popular recreations for visitors at the Indiana state parks with hundreds of miles traveled daily on the bridle paths during the spring, summer and autumn months.

Riding stables are maintained at six of the state parks—Brown County, Mounds, Turkey Run, Pokagon, Clifty Falls and McCormicks Creek—with more than a hundred miles of bridle paths marked for exclusive use by equestrians at these parks. New stables are in use this year at Pokagon and Clifty Falls state Parks and work is in progress on a new stable at McCormick's Creek. A stable is to be built at Shakamak state park this summer and bridle paths will be designated.

Early morning rides with breakfasts along the trail, moonlight rides and other special events are staged frequently for equestrian visitors at the parks.

Maintenance of the riding stables and bridle paths is one of the facilities provided by the state parks to meet the varied recreational demands of the more than a million persons visiting the parks annually.

S. H. VOYLES & CO.

At the general merchandise store of S. H. Voyles on West Main street, you will find a full line of dry goods, clothing, shoes, groceries, floor coverings, furniture, stoves, hardware, roofing, paint, and Marathon gasoline and petroleum products.

Here the best grade of merchandise can be selected from the complete stock that is at all times carried—and always at the most reasonable prices. Mr. Voyles realizes that the general store is the hub of the rural community and that the greater the satisfaction of the customer, the greater the part he plays in contributing to the general welfare and good-will existing in the community.

The people have found that the policy of fairness existing here justifies them in selecting the Voyles store as a market for the sale of their produce and in return the logical place for the purchase for their needs.

Mr. Voyles was born and reared in Palmyra and started to work for J. H.Martin's general store in 1892. His experience there supplied him with knowledge of store business in every detail. A very conservative buyer, Mr. Voyles' slogan reads, "The Store of Bargains, S. H. Voyles & Co."

Through his operations, he has done much toward the advancement of the community and his contributions to the welfare of ths section have been many.

MARTIN'S FEED & SUPPLY STORE

An important factor in the welfare and progress of Palmyra and Harrison county is Martin's Feed & Supply Store owned and operated by Roscoe W. Martin, an ideal "home town boy that made good."

Feeds for fattening of livestock, for increasing egg production or for a larger milk supply must be properly balanced, and in the nine years that his stores have been in progress, Mr. Martin has given careful study to the merchandise most suitable to the needs of his patrons. A modern Hammermill insures excellent custom grinding and mixing of stock and poultry feeds.

Mr. Martin handles only the highest grade of seeds and fertilizers, namely Ballard's Commercial and Insurance Feeds, Funk's Hybrid Seed Corn and many other leading farm seeds. For that reason the hundreds of satisfied customers throughout this locality are ardent boosters of this store, as well as the complete general store at Central Barren, which is also owned and operated by Mr. Martin. His store in Palmyra is located on West Main street.

Fencing, Jamesway Oil Brooders and a complete line of poultry equipment and preparations can also be purchased at the Martin store at the most reasonable prices, bearing out the fitting slogan, "Anything for anyone at Martin's."

The daily trucking service maintained to and from the markets of this community and to New Albany and Louisville has proven to be a great convenience to surrounding communities.

Deer Developing Sweet Tooth At Brown County State Park

Visitors at Brown County state park have found a new thrill recently in feeding the white-tailed deer which run at large over the fifteen thousand acres of park and game preserve. The scene above was photographed in front of the Abe Martin Lodge recently.

More than a hundred white-tailed deer, once native to Indiana, have been released in suitable areas throughout the southern part of the state in recent years by the Department of Conservation. Several of the deer have been roaming over the park and game preserve in Brown County for months but it is only recently that they have overcome their shyness to take sugar and other sweets from the hands of park visitors.

With the natural increase that has taken place in the number of deer, it is estimated that there are now more than two hundred of these graceful, attractive animals. Reports are received several times a week by conservation officials of deer having been seen by motorists and farmers. During the spring months there were a number of reports of fawn being seen, indicating that the number of deer in the state is increasing steadily.

Deer in Indiana are protected by law with no open season. Aside from the penalties prescribed by law for killing or molesting deer, violators would face an aroused group of farmers and conservation club members, all of whom are extremely interested in the deer and their protection.

The "poor wise man"

ONCE, LONG AGO, "there was a little city," which was besieged by a great king, and in this city there dwelt "a poor wise man" who by his wisdom delivered the city. So we are told by the writer of Ecclesiastes, who further declares that "the words of wise men are heard in quiet more than the cry of him that ruleth among fools," and, also, that "wisdom is better than weapons of war" (Ecclesiastes 9:14, 15, 17, 18). The latter statement is echoed today by spiritual thinkers in many lands, and wiser ways of handling world problems are being sought. It is increasingly evident that many are recognizing the futility of war as a means of settling national or international problems.

The teachings of Christianity have always been opposed to war, and yet in the long centuries since Christ Jesus preached the gospel of peace on earth and good will to men, there has been unceasing warfare. The ages have advanced slowly in the apprehension and demonstration of spiritual truth. It took many long years of education and enlightenment before the practice of slavery was abolished in civilized countries. To abolish the barbarism of war demands the united effort of all who are interested in the progress of civilization.

War is pagan, uncivilized, idolatrous. Peace is Godlike, spiritual, and, in the best sense, civilized. Centuries ago, the prophet Micah proclaimed the coming of the true peace to the world when he said of God (Micah 4:3), "He shall judge among many people, and rebuke strong nations afar off; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." This ideal of peace between nations and peoples can be realized as the individuals who comprise them gain a more correct sense of God and man, and a demonstrable understanding of the omnipotence of God, good. . . .

There is no doubt that the way of righteous conciliation is one that requires great wisdom, not only in international affairs but also in the affairs of individuals. False beliefs of greed, competition, jealousy, domination, and racial prejudice are some of the causes of war, and these beliefs must be overcome in individual and collective consciousness. The Apostle James, in his wise epistle, writes (1:5), "If ny of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him;" and he further defines divine wisdom thus (3:17): "The wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be intreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy."

"There is a sharp distinction between divine wisdom and the ways and means of worldly wisdom. A characteristic of true wisdom is that it is unselfed; it desires the good of all mankind. It is compassionate, tolerant, and forgiving. In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy writes (p. 275), "No wisdom is wise but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is Life but the divine; no good is, but the good God bestows." To desire this divine wisdom, and to seek it diligently, not only enriches our lives but enables us to work out our human problems.

To seek and find divine wisdom, one must be willing to give up self-importance, self-love, and intellectual pride, and learn to be humble. There is no task so important to one's spiritual welfare as the pursuit of divine wisdom. . . .

Our greatest need is to learn to pray the Christianly scientific prayer that acknowledges the supremacy of God, good, and the consequent nothingness of evil. This prayer of affirmation enables us to know that nothing can hinder the right way, the wise way, from being revealed to us, now, to meet the present need. A constant reminder of spiritual reality is the "Daily Prayer" from the Manual of The Mother Church (Art. VIII, Sect. 4) by Mrs. Eddy: "Thy kingdom come; let the reign of divine Truth, Life, and Love be established in me, and rule out of me all sin; and may Thy Word enrich the affections of all mankind, and govern them!"—The Christian Science Monitor.

L. A. KAHL FUNERAL HOME

The confidence and good will borne through 35 years of conscientious and painstaking service to his neighbors and the people of the surrounding communities has won for L. A. Kahl the respect and dependence which is so vital to success in his profession.

From the time that he is called, in the hour of distress, you may be assured that every detail of the burial service will be taken off your hands. You have the comfroting assurance that the most minute feature will be properly attended to. In times of adversity it is with a sense of consolation and with a feeling of infinite security to know that the heavy burdens, which arise upon these occasions, have been entrusted to someone schooled in the technique and diplomacy of handling just such delicate situations.

All these and many other fine qualifications particularly fit Mr. Kahl for the profession which he has selected as his life's work and are taken into account by the people of a wide territory in this section when the services of a mortician are required.

Complete motor transportation is part of the well appointed equipment of Mr. Kahl's establishment. As an additional service and aid to the people of his community he provides an ambulance service. In accord with modern needs, he has recently added a large new cemetery tent to his equipment.

DR. F. A. MAY

A friend to the sick and well alike, Dr. F. A. May has had success far above average since he began practice in Palmyra on January 1, 1927.

Located at a convenient site in this vicinity, Dr. May has established a large clientele through the efficiency of his service and has won for himself a position of utmost prominence in this section of the county. His many patients and friends have implicit trust in his services both to them and their families. In times of sickness or accident, Dr. May's patients feel that they can place their health or life in his hands with the greatest confidence and trust. Professionally and socially, he is regarded as a tremendous asset to the community.

Born in Pleasant Ridge, Missouri in 1882, Dr. May moved to the middlewest where he was graduated from the University of Louisville School of Medicine in 1909. He begun practice at Hardinsburg, Indiana, and from there removed to Palmyra.

Dr. May's many years of schooling, experience and service have made him an important factor in the lives of the people. His offices are modernized with all the medicines and instruments of the profession. Accustomed to the strenuous efforts and long hours of work, Dr. May has proven an equally capable booster and worker in behalf of the better interests of his community.

THE HARRISON COUNTY BANK

One of the highly prized institutions in Harrison County is the Harrison County Bank, established September 10, 1938 at Palmyra. Located at a convenient site in this thriving community, bank officials state that business has been highly satisfactory for the first year of its existence, both to the bank and its hundreds of customers.

This institution also carries deposit insurance and is in a position to handle all kinds of individual insurance. The Harrison County Bank affords complete banking facilities and is known for its strength and for the sound judgement of directors and officials. The cordiality of the personnel is appreciated by the people who seek advice or assistance and by people who are confronted with financial problems.

The Harrison County Bank is strong, safe and conservative and the small account is as welcome as the large. This institution has set a notable example of progress in this district. The institution realizes, as does a good merchant, that good service means almost as much to the patron as does satisfactory merchandise and it operates in that manner.

The officials at the bank here are Walter Fisher, Crandall, President; Carl Fellmy, of Crandall, cashier; Mrs. Arthur Endres, of Central Barren, assistant cashier; Miss Naomi Crosby is in charge of a branch at Crandall.

The officers and directors are men and women of the highest standing and are recognized as being among the most prominent citizens of the community. All in all, The Harrison County Bank offers you a friendly, helpful and confidential service in all matters pertaining to banking and finances and well deserves the patronage that is extended.

LOUDEN'S MILL

The Louden Mill, located on an ideal site in west Palmyra, is owned and operated by Harry Louden who has had 25 years of experience in the milling business. Established this spring, the building is not yet completed, but the concern is already doing a thriving business, employing from 12 to 16 men.

When the plant is finished in the near future, planers and other modern equipment that completes a modern mill will be installed. Mr. Louden plans to also handle pine lumber and other building material, and is doing all kinds of custom sawing by expert operators. The concern is buying logs or timber by the tract.

Realizing that the service rendered now will be remembered in the future, Mr. Louden conducts his business on a policy of satisfaction and cooperation to the customer. However, the success of a dealer in this business cannot rest entirely on quality and service. He must be thoroughly familiar with ever phase of the business and must be able to advise customers who will best serve their needs. In the short time Mr. Louden has been located here, he has proven to be a booster for his community and has successfully rendered the personal service to his customers that have resulted in an ever increasing and expanding business for his mill.

Looking into the future with the idea of being above the ordinary in his service to his customers, Mr. Louden bids the prospective purchaser of lumber to visit the mill where no order is too large nor none too small for his most careful attention.

"Louden, at Palmyra, can supply your needs in all kinds of lumber and building material."

What Is Abroad in the World Today?

"Open the door, let in the air,
The winds are sweet, and the flowers are fair,
Joy is abroad in the world today.
If your door is wide open it will come your way.
Open the door."

THIS stanza was memorized by the writer when a child. At that time it made an appeal largely because of its pretty picturing and happy rhyme. Many years later it came back to thought with a deeper signification, which led to the contemplation of spiritual joy.

The door to our mental home is our receptiveness to whatever comes knocking for admission. To what are we opening our door? Are we definitely closing it against the intrusion of fear, distrust, despair, ill-health, poverty? Do we welcome in the good we wish to see objectified in our experience?

If we are alert, and listening to Truth, we shall become aware of the spiritual joy, trust, healthy thoughts, assurance of peace and happiness which are awaiting on our receptiveness to come in and abide with us.

In the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy gives us this counsel, which, when obeyed, is far reaching in its effects and influence (p. 332): "Stand porter at the door of thought. Admitting only such conclusions as you wish realized in bodily results, you will control yourself harmoniously.

Today mankind, finding itself in a condition of great economic complications, is asking, "Is there a way out?" Fear of lack of individual and national security is knocking loudly for entrance into human consciousness. Are we to stand by, helplessly feeling that there is no answer available, or that the answer is dependent upon those in authority who may or may not be guided wisely? Definitely, no!

There is an answer, a solution, to the individual and world problems of today. . . . We read (ibid., p. 390), "It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores harmony." How simple, yet how profound, is the answer—"the right understanding of Him"! In His great love, God has endowed each one of His children with the ability to understand His Father-Mother God. . . . This understanding of God, and of man in His likeness, displaces all that is imperfect, unlovely, sinful, sick, or sorrowing.

Divine ever-operative Principle, when understood and applied in our human experience, establishes the true concept of brotherly love, and a corresponding desire to reflect Love, God. Thus, as understanding is gained, wars will cease; and so in due course whatever is wrong will be annihilated, and nothing discordant will remain. . . .

The only real, true government of man is by God's law of harmony. And the understanding of God's law precedes obedience to that law. When we shall have fully awakened to the glorious privilege of submission to the guidance of unerring, infinite divine Mind, then shall we experience the reign of everlasting Life, Truth, and Love. We need not wait one hour to begin the joyous task of helping to bring about the kingdom of heaven on earth. What we harbor in thought decides whether or not the pathway we are treading is leading us upward and onward into God's kingdom. The radiance of thought which is in accord with divine Love not only illumines our own journey but helps to brighten the pathway for others. As the light of a tiny candle displaces some darkness, so does the least reflection of the light of Truth in our consciousness dispel some error; and gradually but surely shall all humanity come to the recognition of universal good, glorious and triumphant.

May we then open wide the door of our thought to let in light, peace, freedom, dominion, power, and the spiritual joy that are more and more appearing in the world today. Then shall be brought to pass the promise given by the prophet Jeremiah (Jeremiah 31:34), "And they shall teach no more every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith the Lord." — The Christian Science Monitor.

BOSTON, STANDIFORD & BRUNI
The Modern General Store

The firm of Boston Standiford & Bruni was established at its present location, the south east corner of Main and Church streets, Palmyra, January 18, 1918.

Oscar F. Boston and James Standiford, both of limited means, but of sterling character with a disposition to work and a determination to succeed opened their store with a small stock of groceries, but soon added dry goods and some hardware in a limited way. But as their business grew and their customers increased in number, demanding a wider variety, they continued to add various lines. But they needed more help and took in another partner, William J. Bruni, another outstanding citizen of the community and soon the firm took its rightful place with the best general stores of southern Indiana.

Mr. Standiford finding it necessary to go west for the health of his family sold his interest to George Ems. Mr. Bruni sold his interest to Wilbur Dalton and the other members of the firm but both succeeding men are among the most highly respected citizens of the community and the firm continued its growth. They now handle a complete line in every department and are not satisfied with just as good, but carry the best, groceries, fresh and smoked meats, dry goods, ladies ready made clothing, work clothing and shoes for men, school supplies, stoves, washing machines, fencing, roofing, paints, cement, they do feed grinding, handle mill feeds, operate a Gulf filling station, handling the complete Gulf line. They have several milk routes that serve the people in the outlying districts around Palmyra. They are equipped to do local and long distant hauling. In a word they are prepared to serve the every need of their customers.

The present owners are Oscar F. Boston, George Ems and Wilbur Dalton but the firm retains the name, Boston, Standiford and Bruni.

COLEMAN MOTOR COMPANY

In Palmyra is one of Harrison county's most modern automotive service plants, the Coleman Motor Company, operated by John Coleman and sons, William and John R. Coleman.

In this well maintained, adequately equipped station, the Colemans combine many services for the benefit of their many customers and the motoring public. In addition to selling the popular and well known brands of Pennzip gasoline and oils they offer an efficient and complete greasing, painting, and general work service. The Coleman Motor Company is the only Garage in Palmyra selling new cars. They sell Dodge and Plymouth cars and trucks, Firestone Tires, Pennzoil and Pennzip gasoline.

John Coleman settled in Palmyra nearly 30 years ago, setting up a blacksmith shop from which emerged the present modern garage. The Colemans make it a point to see that every patron has the best and most courteous attention, and as a consequence their station has attracted customers from all parts of the county who have learned to depend upon their superior and honest work, service and merchandise.

Here at this garage a personal and friendly interest prevails and every care is exercised in giving each patron the utmost consideration and you may have entire confidence in the Colemans' ability to solve your automobile problems for you, whatever they may be. The people of this community have learned that it pays them well to take their car troubles to these qualified experts for analysis and correction.

The Colemans also operate a large new portable Fords Hammer Mill and will drive to your barn, grind and mix your feeds. Call them and let your wants be known.

PEARL RAINBOLT'S 75TH BIRTHDAY YARD CELEBRATION

You are most sincerely invited to attend the 75th Birthday Yard Celebration for Pearl Rainbolt on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 23, 24, 25 and 26, 1988, from 2 p.m. until 8 p.m. daily, at her home in Palmyra.

For the past several years, my Mother, Pearl, has spent the winters in Florida, and she has missed the pleasure of seeing her many dear friends and relatives on January 31, which is her birthday. Since this past January 31 was her 75th birthday, I decided that when we returned home, and when the weather was nice, we would invite all of you to stop by for a few minutes or an entire day to visit and enjoy talking with Mother and seeing some of your other friends as well. So many times we wait until it's too late, and then we are sorry for not taking a few minutes to enjoy the company of our dear friends, relatives and casual acquaintances. Let's not wait to gather at the funeral home. Please take some time out of your busy schedule . . . I know that you will be happy you did, and one and all will be most welcome. We decided to hold the celebration for four days in the event that it may be inconvenient for some of you to come on any one particular day.

Please pass this information on to your friends who you think might want to stop by and say hello to Mother. If you have any old pictures, clippings, or other mementos that you would like to share, please bring them along, as I know Mother and your friends will enjoy seeing them.

Sincerely,
Johnny Rainbolt

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for thou art with me: thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:
thou anointest my head with oil:
my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life:
and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

Flora and Gottlieb Miller and family. Children: Stella, Goldie, Sylvia. Flora is holding Stella, Goldie is standing between the parents, Sylvia with Gottlieb. Johnson Miller, Hattie's brother in a decorated oval. Bow tie. A young man.

Aunt Flora Miller and friend. This was probably taken some time after Gottlieb died. She did write about a man friend who had been nice to her. But just friends.

Daisey Simpson, died December 1908 ... a first cousin to Minnie... a sister to John Simpson. Married Bent Arnold. She was Hattie's first cousin also. Oval.

Glenn Miller as a baby. He was Johnson's son, and nephew to Hattie. His father had a professional photo studio. Note this is the same Wicker chair that Lucy Klinker Haub was seated in for you photo as a young girl.

Grace, Nelson and Ina Duffel.....Grace Duffel and family .....a cousin to Hattie and Minnie. Her father was brother Gracealina Miller. I am not sure who this is. Was her father the brother of Gracealina Miller?? And who was Gracealina?? Not sure that name is even correct. Whitesell studio at Charleston, Illinois (?)

Fritz Miller, my dad's cousin (Would be Rudolph Miller's cousin). Taken at C. Heimberger and Son, of New Albany, Ind. Corner of Bank and Spring streets. Dated 1891 but this may just be the date of the start of the photo studio.

French Lick or Lick Branch School, located on the East side of Rt, 135 just north of Palmyra, Indiana. This was where Hattie, Miller kids and possibly the Klinker kids went to school. The school is no longer standing. But there are several family members on this picture.

Cleona Libka Royce, Aunt Flora Miller, Lyman Miller, Lou Sappenfield holding a child, Lena Sappenfield and Mildred. This was a reunion of some kind.
Cleona is the first lady on left, 2nd row with fur collar on coat.
Aunt Flora Miller, just below the man standing up on the roof. She is surrounded by men, with a couple of ladies in front. She has on a low V-necked sweater.
Gottlieb is way in back with mustache, not standing on anything to make him higher (farthest row back).
Lyman is straight back from the little girl, whose brother has him arm around her shoulder. Uncle Lyman has on a bow tie.
Lou Sappenfield, Lena and Mildred about 3 rows back, don on right side of picture. Lou is holding child.

Other photos that I did not scan because I already had them from before are:

THE Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil: my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

The funeral is the way our society provides for the death of one of its members. It is an occasion for showing our affection and respect for the deceased, for expressing our sympathy and concern and for participating in the experience of mutual sorrow.

Your presence at the funeral, in the company of other friends and neighbors, contributes to a fellowship of support extended to the family and relatives. They appreciate your personal attendance however inadequate their words may seem. By being there you have communicated that you care. This is the Miller home. Cousins of our Miller family. All coming from the same ancestor, Rudolph Miller, Sr. It was called the "Gus Miller" home. It belonged to 3 of the Miller children and in 1994 there was an auction at this home which included 3 log cabins and many, many wonderful antiques. This would have been the cream of the crop in auctions. But all these wonderful items have no doubt found homes of their own by this time. But it can give you chills to read the list of antiques for sale. Since we have the sale bill, thought we should have a picture of the home and one of the cabins to go with it.
